

'Fighter' HHH lashes out at Nixon

By PETE GRADY
Pocono Record Reporter
BETHLEHEM — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey came out of his corner as a cocky and confident heavyweight and threw every punch in the book at Richard Nixon as the bell sounded in Bethlehem and other Pennsylvania cities for the final week's round in the national election campaign.

Speaking Tuesday in Johnston Hall, Moravian College, before a packed and partisan crowd of 3,000 students, Humphrey pummeled left and rights to the body of Nixon's stands on the Job Corps, the Peace Corps, the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty, human rights, Medicare, education, TV debates and the Vietnam War.

In the middle of his speech Humphrey was stating that the real income of an average American family of four has increased almost $3,000 in the last eight years when he was interrupted by a student heckler who shouted, "War."

"I hear the word war," Humphrey said looking up at a tier of seats packed with students. The Vice President reminded the students that it was the then Vice President Richard Nixon who said in 1954 that "we should send American men and forces to rescue the French," who were facing annihilation at Dien-Bien-Phu.

During the warm-up session for Humphrey party officials were interrupted a half dozen times by a rock n' roll type chant, "Dump the Hump...Dump the Hump," but after Humphrey's arrival and especially when he got deep into the attack on Nixon the chanting theme died out on its own disinterest.

"Do you want Nixon?" Humphrey began. A mixed roar bounded off the beige concrete block walls of the hall and then firming up into a decided chant: "We want Humphrey."

"I accept your nomination," the Vice President said.

In a light blue suit and a tan and black striped tie with his eyes moist and bright, Humphrey, his voice slipping and then into a frog-like croak, implored the crowd to "exercise man's ability to reason."

We're living in the twenty-third year of the nuclear age, he reminded the audience. And then the Minnesota twang edged up tight into his voice and the intent and meaning of his words wrung the hearts of the faithful as he dipped down with the grass roots rhetoric and oration of a country preacher thumping out his love for the Bible.

Only with Humphrey it was America. An America wrestling, crying, seeking to find its conscience, he said.

It was as if he was a fisherman as he threw out a net of words to capture the crowd, words like "goodness" and "decency" and then tying the words up with the phrase "doing it together," having these words bear fruit in a better America working through himself and the crowd.

"There's nothing we cannot do together," he said as the first drop of sweat turned into a shiny bead on the edge of his forehead.

Blurring Nixon's TV image Humphrey said Nixon appeared last Sunday on "Face The Nation" for the first time in two years. I just made my eighteenth appearance on "Meet The Press," Humphrey shot back.

Humphrey said that out of 200,000 boys and girls who had entered the Job Corps, 173,000 have completed their training and 120,000 are working with an average pay of $1.70 an hour.

"And Nixon said, 'Do away with the Job Corps,'" Humphrey answered.

Humphrey told the crowd what George Foreman, U.S. Olympic Gold Medal winner in the heavyweight boxing division said about the job corps.

"He said, 'I am here for the United States because I got my chance in the Job Corps,'" Humphrey said.

On education Humphrey said that 54 per cent of American families have either a son or daughter in college today.

Nixon, Humphrey said, never cast a single vote for elementary, secondary or higher federal aid to education.

The elderly is the largest poverty group in America today, the Vice President said.

"Seven million senior citizens received Medicare last year, and Nixon said in 1960 it (Medicare) would be a bureaucratic tangle."

Standing on tiptoe and leaning forward with his arms outstretched Humphrey rasped forth: "They shall know them by their deeds, not by their words."

"The Peace Corps," Humphrey shouted as he found his voice once again. "Why did he (Nixon) call it a home for draft dodgers?"

Humphrey hailed the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty as "one of the great building blocks for peace. But Mr. Nixon, Humphrey said, called it a 'cruel hoax and catastrophic nonsense.'"

Humphrey accused third party candidate George Wallace as one who "plays on the anguish, bitterness and prejudice of people."

The Vice President said that Nixon was playing both sides of the Mason-Dixon line in matters of school desegregation.

"We must be neighbors, not enemies," Humphrey said. He told the crowd that justice is the true test of a society's existence. "Are we just?" he asked the crowd.

He admitted the Democratic party "may have made some mistakes but it cares about human beings." Humphrey made no mention in his Moravian College speech to Sen. Eugene McCarthy's mild endorsement of him on Tuesday.

Democratic representatives from Monroe County included Stuart Pipher, county chairman; Atty. Peter O'Brien, candidate for 139th District Assemblyman, county commissioner Arlington (Bud) Martin, and John Valence, Stroudsburg district chairman.

Nixon listens to protests

McCarthy endorses Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., endorsed Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency Tuesday but left his own political future clouded in a smokescreen of vague answers.

McCarthy said in announcing he would vote for the man who defeated him for the Democratic nomination, that he would not seek re-election to the Senate in 1970 as a "candidate of my party" nor would he seek the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

In a formal statement, the Minnesota senator fired fresh criticism at party leaders' handling of the Chicago convention. He said he would not ask young people to stay in the party in another election "unless there has been change" in its organization.

Told by reporters that his formal statement left his future political intentions unclear, McCarthy replied with the air of a man who wanted it that way: "That's the way it is."

Did he intend to leave the Democratic party and possibly run for the Senate on another ticket?

"I didn't say that," McCarthy said.

Was he saying he wouldn't run for the Senate or the presidency again?

"No, I'm not saying that."

Czech youths ignore government warning

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Anti-Soviet demonstrations broke out again Tuesday night in defiance of a government warning. Young Czechoslovaks roamed the city's streets shouting, "Russians Go Home!" and "Brezhnev boo boo boo!"

Police and militiamen pushed back the young people who came to the Slovak national theater to cheer the nation's liberal leaders. The government chiefs are visiting this Slovak capital on the second day of Czechoslovakia's celebration of its 50th anniversary as a republic.

The demonstration followed a statement in Prague by Jan Mayer, deputy minister of the interior, that Czechoslovak police were determined to carry out their "duty of maintaining public order" after tens of thousands called in Prague Monday for a Soviet troop withdrawal.

Earlier, tens of thousands of Slovaks wildly applauded the arrival of President Ludvik Svoboda and Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek. As their eight-car special train pulled in, the crowd broke through police lines, scattered a band and an honor guard and mobbed the railway station.

Mayer's warning underscored a law, passed after the invasion, that restricts the right of assem-

Theft of Sidewinder missiles rocks West German regime

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's security system was rocked again Tuesday with disclosure of the case by which a stolen Sidewinder missile and two secret navigation instruments were smuggled to Moscow.

Att'y. Gen. Ludwig Martin told a news conference in Karlsruhe the 16-foot, air to air missile went as ordinary air freight. The two instruments were packed in luggage and flown to Moscow on two separate flights by a mystery passenger. Identified only as "Mr. X" this person is under arrest, Martin said.

Two others have been arrested in the thefts and identified by Martin as jet pilot Sgt. Maj. Wolf Diethard Knope, 33, and Polish-born Josef Linowski from Krefeld, West Germany. The thefts occurred last year.

The country's security system came under urgent study as a string of mysterious deaths among government officials threatened to spread disarray among the Western allies fearing a widespread Communist spy plot.

Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger flies home from Spain today and will take personal charge of the investigation, along with his vice chancellor, Foreign Minister Willy Brandt.

Kiesinger ordered the investigation amid claims that there was a lack of coordination between security men and civil investigators.

The alleged shortcomings are said to have been exposed through a series of espionage cases and recent deaths and disappearances of high and low ranking military and government officials.

Government spokesmen have described them as a succession of unrelated coincidences, but fears persist in Germany and other countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the cases are linked.

Kiesinger and Brandt will receive a report from State Secretary Karl Carstens, who is interrogating West Germany's top interrogators, the heads of the Federal Intelligence Agency, Military Counterintelligence, and the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution. Carstens has also questioned senior police officials and Martin on the argument unleashed by the case of Rear Adm. Hermann Luedke, 57-year-old newly retired NATO officer.

Luedke was found dead with a gunshot wound 15 days after a microfilm of top secret NATO documents was traced to him Sept. 23.

Living cost increases slow down

WASHINGTON (AP) — This year's climb in living costs, the steepest since the Korean war — tapered off slightly to a more modest rise of two-tenths of one per cent last month, the Labor Department reported Tuesday.

The government's Consumer Price Index, at 122.2, showed it cost $12.22 in September for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 base period.

Prices of groceries, used cars and home mortgage interest rates dipped in September, while clothing, housing and medical costs rose.

"The peak of the inflationary surge is past," said Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

But he predicted higher monthly rises the last quarter of this year which are almost certain to push the total 1968 boost in living costs to more than 4 per cent. That would be the highest since the 8 per cent jump in 1951.

The September rise of two-tenths, smallest in a year, compared with average monthly increases of more than three-tenths so far in 1968.

Syracuse's singing students

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, specifically answering the campaign complaints of protesting Syracuse University students, said Tuesday night he can achieve a negotiated settlement in Vietnam — and recommended that the Soviet Union be brought in to the peace talks.

For the first time in his campaign, the Republican presidential nominee talked directly to a group of student protesters. The scene was a campaign rally that drew 12,000 persons to the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium.

Nixon forecast that he will win the Nov. 5 election by a substantial margin. "We will win it quite decisively by between 3 and 5 million votes," he said.

He said Democratic nominee Hubert H. Humphrey realizes he cannot win the popular vote, and knows that the only way he can capture the White House is if a deadlock in the Electoral College sends the election to the House of Representatives.

The encounter with the students came about because a group of nearly 1,000 of them had announced in advance plans to march into the hall, sing a song of protest, then listen to the GOP campaigner.

So, Nixon said at the outset that the crowd should listen to the students first. "I'm delighted to hear those differences," he said. "The floor is yours."

The students stood and began to sing. The words of their song, "The Sounds of Silence," could not be made out on the floor of the hall.

The crowd began to boo. Nixon silenced his supporters. "Let them go," he said. "They have indicated that if they are allowed to sing, they will listen."

Their song done, Nixon said he considered it "the very proper right of dissent. In our free society we welcome the right to present different points of view."

"Now they're going to listen for a while and allow me to talk," he said.

Then Nixon began his speech by answering questions posed by the students in a mimeographed statement.

He said he favors a negotiated settlement in Vietnam and he questioned Humphrey's credentials in that respect. "One man talks peace but one man has served in an administration in which we haven't had one minute of peace for four years," he said.

Nixon said he would offer new leadership unfettered by the policies of the past. He said with such leadership a negotiated peace can be achieved.

"The Soviet Union must be brought to that conference table, other interested countries of Asia must be there," he declared, "because by broadening the number of nations at that conference table and the issues we can" obtain a settlement of the war.

There was intermittent heckling as Nixon spoke.

Wallace calls for revision of federal income tax laws

DETROIT (AP) — George C. Wallace said Tuesday night the federal income tax laws must be rewritten to lighten the burden on the small wage earner and make the rich pay "their rightful share."

Wallace flew to Detroit for a campaign speech from Enid, Okla., where earlier in the day he had talked about oil and gas, hecklers and newsmen whom he accused of writing distorted stories about his campaign.

At Detroit, in his third position paper of the day spelling out portions of his platform, the third-party presidential candidate said the new 10 per cent income surtax put into effect last July 1 has done virtually nothing to halt inflation.

"It appears that all that has happened," he said, "is that the government has absorbed these additional tax dollars into its lavish spending programs."

The former Alabama governor promised, if elected, to cut out wasteful federal spending; combat inflation by more efficient government spending; eliminate "bureaucracy solely for bureaucracy's own sake," and strengthen the free enterprise system.

He did not spell out just how he would change the tax laws, but he did mention individuals in high income brackets who, he said, pay too small a share of their earnings in taxes compared with what the lower salaried worker pays.

At Enid, Okla., Wallace issued other campaign statements which said:

—All coastal states, not just Florida and Texas, are entitled to ownership of offshore oil lands at least 10 miles out.

—Congress must limit the right of the Federal Power Commission to regulate interstate sales of natural gas.

But he made no mention of the controversial oil depletion allowance which many say is a gigantic tax loophole.

In his position papers on oil and gas, Wallace said, "great inequities" have resulted from court decisions fixing the boundary line between state and federal ownership of offshore oil and gas rights.

California, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama have been given offshore rights only three miles out, he said, while Florida and Texas, because of treaties or constitutional mandates, have jurisdiction for ten miles.

"It is only reasonable," he said, "that all coastal states receive treatment at least equal to Texas and Florida. A uniform jurisdictional limit is essential to the orderly and equitable development of our coastal waters."

Wallace said also that the nation's oil import program has permitted shipments of petroleum from abroad to increase faster than the rate of consumption in the United States.

Nurse tyro soon lost to field

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—More nurses are being trained than ever before, "but they disappear into other fields or retire," the President of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association said Tuesday.

Dr. Lucie S. Young, the president, said many nurses leave the field because they find themselves playing minor roles in a huge and impersonal medical care system.

"Somewhere, between the time an idealistic teenager entered some school of nursing, wanting more than anything to do something for others, and the time when slacking out became the highlight of the nursing day, this nurse became lost to the profession," said Dr. Young.

Dr. Young, a nurse with a Ph.D. in education, told the opening session of the association's convention many nurses drop out because they find their work bears little resemblance to their training.

Dr. Young is assistant director for nursing at McKeesport Hospital. She said the fact some nurses marry and have children does not explain the shortage. She said many married women return to work in other fields.

She said the nurse in a hospital no longer thinks in terms of the number of people she is serving.

Instead, said Dr. Young, a nurse has assignments in terms of procedures, measured in so many "completes" or "percentals" that she must leave to the next shift.

Noting nurses are expected to always follow orders, she cited an experiment that "has given me nightmares" of the problems this can cause.

She said a telephone call was made to a nursing station by a person purported to be a physician, who then ordered an excessive dose of a drug for a patient.

Dr. Young said 21 of 22 nurses who received the call were ready to obey blindly, without question or consultation. They were stopped by a supervisor participating in the experiment.

"What happened to the critical thinking, the judgmental skills stressed as the vital part of nursing practice? Are we only obedient automatons, prepared to serve the doctor, not care for the patient?" she asked.

$10-million RFK foundation to combat crime, poverty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., announced Tuesday the creation of a Robert F. Kennedy foundation to work in areas of poverty, crime and education as "a living memorial" to his assassinated brother.

The $10-million foundation, to be called the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial, will be "an action-oriented program that we think will carry on his concerns, his actions, his efforts to work on so many of the problems in this country that have no solutions," Kennedy said.

He made the announcement at a news conference on the sprawling back lawn of Robert Kennedy's McLean, Va., estate, Hickory Hill.

He was flanked by his sisters, Patricia Kennedy Lawford and Jean Kennedy Smith, and surrounded by dozens of family friends and aides.

Robert Kennedy's widow, Ethel, did not appear, but said in a statement that she feels the me-memorial will "carry forward the ideals and carry on the work so important in the life of my husband."

"He wanted to encourage the young people and to help the disadvantaged and discriminated against both here and abroad, and he wanted to promote peace in the world," she said. "These will be the goals of the memorial."

No specific foundation projects were outlined but Kennedy said there will be an announcement "of some significance within the next few weeks."

"Rather than itself attempting to solve any given problem," Kennedy said of the memorial, "it will seek to bring together on a case-by-case basis the resources, people and organization necessary for a continuing attack on it."

Memorial funds, which will be raised through donations, will be used on projects in the areas of poverty, education, housing, crime and violence in this country and poverty and hunger abroad, Kennedy said.

Robert S. McNamara, former secretary of defense and now president of the World Bank, will act as chairman of the executive committee of the memorial. Thomas J. Watson, chairman of the board of IBM, is finance chairman and Frederick G. Dutton, former assistant secretary of state under President John F. Kennedy, is the memorial's director.

Trainmen come out for Depuy

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican Warner M. Depuy picked up some support Tuesday from an unexpected union source.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen through its State Legislative Board announced endorsement of Depuy for the office of state auditor general.

The union nationally, said a spokesman, supports the presidential ticket of Democratic Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, and endorsed Democrats for all other statewide offices.

Charles J. Shadden, chairman of the legislative board, explaining the union's action, said:

"Mr. Depuy is a nice man, a worthy public servant, and fully capable of fulfilling the post of state auditor general."

Depuy, now serving as secretary of revenue in the Shaffer cabinet, is opposed for the elective office by former State Sen. Robert P. Casey of Scranton, a Democrat.

Wounded ex-fugitive sentenced

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Consecutive prison terms of six to 15 years were imposed Tuesday upon David (Peewee) Evans, 23, of York, once listed on the FBI's "10 most wanted" criminals.

Evans pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of burglary and related offenses, and armed robbery. Five other counts were dropped by the prosecution.

York County Judge Robert I. Shadle imposed the prison terms Tuesday. Evans was sentenced to six to 15 years on charges of burglary, larceny, and receiving stolen goods, and a similar term, to run consecutively, on the charge of armed robbery.

After the sentencing, deputies took the prisoner to Eastern State Penitentiary in Philadelphia.

Evans was wounded in a gun battle with York police last spring when surprised at the home of a doctor during a burglary. At the time, police said he was on the FBI list in connection with interstate flight after a bank robbery at Bethlehem.

Evans still is unable to walk as a result of wounds suffered in the April gun battle, police said.

Sprawling Pike acreage to feature shopping center

LAKE WALLENPAUPACK — The owners of a 1,000-acre development in Palmyra Twp., Pike County, announced Tuesday plans to build a shopping center, 18-hole golf course and a marina and yacht club on Lake Wallenpaupack.

The plans were revealed by Bob Davis, who is resident representative of Tanglewood Lakes, Inc., developers of the tract which is located on Rt. 507, about six miles from Newfoundland.

Davis said that inquiries have been received from more than 90 days ago, the corporation has sold more than $300,000 worth of half-acre lots.

The lots sell from $5,000 to $15,000 and long-range plans call for the erection of 1,300 permanent homes costing from $18,000 and up.

Davis said that inquiries have already been received from clients who are interested in locating in a shopping center which would be developed by Tanglewood.

He said aerial photos of the layout will be taken soon and the golf course will be designed after that. Davis described the course as meeting Professional Golfers' Assn. standards and will be designed by Fazio and Sons.

Frontage has been acquired on Lake Wallenpaupack, Davis said, and a marina and yacht club will be built on the lake. He said docks will be put in next year.

Also in the plans is a water company to serve the development which will be operated as a public utility and could serve other township residents if the need arose, Davis said.

The development, which has been engineered by Fred Schoenagel, Greentown, will feature lake-front park areas as focal points of development clusters.

"We will build a city here," Davis said, "but because of unique planning it won't resemble a city."

Davis said presently more than one million dollars has been invested in the property.

"This is not a high-speed development. It will take us years to complete all the plans we foresee," Davis said.

He emphasized that the air of the developers is to cooperate with local officials and businessmen.

"Our theory is to develop that land necessary to carry out our plans and to conserve the rest of the land," Davis said.

As an example of good planning, Davis pointed out that fire plugs will be located every 1,000 feet within the development.

On-lot sewage will be allowed because of the central water supply and limit of half-acre lots.

Davis said the development is located near an exchange of I-84, which is already under construction.

"When I-84 is completed we will be only one and a half hours away from all the big cities," Davis said.

YDC work won't start next week, mayor says

PEN ARGYL — Pen Argyl Mayor John Dally promised to continue the fight against construction of the $5 million Youth Development Center on the Creek Road in Upper Mount Bethel Township.

Dally, one of the leading members of a movement spearheading opposition to the YDC, attended a joint meeting of various borough and township officials Monday in Pen Argyl.

"We are going to area legislators and our commissioners and tell them to use every means available to combat the decision of the (Pennsylvania) Department of Welfare to place the YDC here," Dally said.

Sunday Roseto Mayor George Giacinto said there still might be a chance to stop the project, although it had already been approved by the General State Authority.

It was reported that construction for the center would probably begin next week but Bangor Mayor William D. Scott denied the report Monday.

"Construction beginning next week on the YDC is just not so," Mayor Scott said. He would not elaborate on the actual construction date and added that he didn't intend to get back into the YDC controversy since he had many other projects which called for his immediate and undivided attention.

But he did say that he thought it was futile for the YDC opposition to keep harping on the possible bad features of a YDC coming into the area.

Alluding to a recent article in a Philadelphia paper which reported riots, vandalism and sexual abuse in the Bucks County Development Center, Scott claimed that the problem there lay in the field of management.

you by."

The featured speaker during the Pike banquet was Joseph Caputo, an elementary school principal and a faculty member at Marywood College, Dunmore. Caputo told the 130 person at the dinner:

"The older people can thank Hubert Humphrey for procuring Medicare and the younger ones for such projects as the Youth Corps."

Among those introduced by James Duffy, Pike County chairman, were Thomas Kilroe, Milford attorney who is head of the Humphrey campaign in Pike; Jay Schroeder, Pike County commissioner, and Mrs. Isabelle Dunn, Wayne County chairman.

In Honesdale, O'Brien said some of the most important subjects to be considered by the next General Assembly will be the implementation of a new local government article in the state constitution.

"It will be the responsibility of the legislature to set up various forms of local government to provide more effective home rule for the people of Pennsylvania."

"It is important that the new proposals reflect the future needs of our people."

"I want very much to take part in this undertaking to assure people of my district more participation in their government," O'Brien said.

After another year of striving for a more perfect Volkswagen, we bring you the only visible results.

Four nice new shades. Of course, some people won't be terribly impressed.

The way they see it, we let year after year go by without ever really trying to improve our appearance.

Never a bug with dramatic new tail fins. Never a bug with a revolutionary new grille.

Well, making sensational outside changes just isn't like us. Right from the start we've believed in unsensational inside changes. Take this year's bug. Nice though each of its 13 improvements are, there's not a one you can exactly call the stuff of high drama.

Certainly not the new night-and-day inside mirror.

Or the better kind of weather stripping between the engine cover and the body.

Or the new electric rear window defogger.

Or even the new ignition lock that combines with the steering wheel lock.

Over the years, the result of our striving has mostly been little things. 2218 little things to be exact.

But it's the little things that make for perfection. And perfection is no little thing.

Guard conduct this week

Today has been set aside in virtually every municipality in the area as "Trick or Treat Night," the one day set aside each year for youngsters in costume to make the rounds from house to house to fill their bags with goodies.

It is also the date when "safe and sane" mischief is tolerated.

However, any Halloween pranks on any other date become violations of the law and offenders, and their parents, become liable for prosecution.

Parents are liable for any damage caused by their children up to and including $1,000. Thus, legal proceedings can be pressed against an entire family for even the slightest bit of damage inflicted by area children during the Halloween season.

Children are urged to have a good time tonight, during the time set aside for youngsters to have fun.

But, we call on the older portion of the younger generation to act according to their years. We call on them to curtail damage to property and possible injury to individuals.

There can be very little true enjoyment in marking and damaging buildings, stores, automobiles, etc. But, visiting neighbors on a friendly basis, costume parties, parades and lots of food and laughter can bring enjoyment to one and all.

Police throughout the area have warned that no damage will be tolerated and prosecutions will be made if necessary to curtail this practice.

Various organizations are promoting this week, in the form of parties and parades, a variety of entertainment for those who like to take part in strenuous celebrations.

Have a good time tonight, but remember that damage will not be tolerated. Don't you be the one to ruin the day for your friends.

Gifts for servicemen

Christmas is a lonely day when an individual isn't home.

There will be no lonelier day anywhere than among the fighting men of the United States who are currently attempting to stem the flow of Communism in Vietnam.

It is the obligation of every resident of this great nation to do all in his power to make Christmas a joyous day — at least as joyous as any day could possibly be on the front lines a half world away from home.

The Salvation Army and Veterans of Foreign Wars have combined as one organization in an effort to bring at least a degree of Christmas spirit to Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

The Salvation Army, under the direction of Captain Rex Worthy, is supplying and organizing the same type of Christmas packages that went to 91 servicemen and women in Vietnam last year. The VFW is in charge of packaging and mailing the boxes, which contain 20 individual useful items.

However, Captain Worthy has revealed that there is grave concern among those heading the project that some of Monroe County's service personnel may be missed. Each of those spearheading the campaign want to guard against even one serviceman in Vietnam being left off the list.

Last year 91 such gift packages were mailed to Vietnam. As of now, only 40 names have been received by the Salvation Army and the Veterans of Foreign Wars for this year's mailing list. An unofficial estimate indicates that there are approximately 125 servicemen and women from Monroe County now serving in Vietnam.

There is no charge connected with the Christmas packages. Delivery of these gifts to your husband, son or daughter in the fighting zone is guaranteed by a simple telephone call.

The Salvation Army may be reached between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at 421-3050. Howard Doll, Monroe County Veterans Affairs Officer, will also accept calls for gifts at 421-7540.

The deadline for gift listings is next Monday.

Is HHH drive too late?

EN ROUTE WITH HUMPHREY: Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has come a long way from the "politics of joy," but his Democratic presidential campaign is beginning to move up at last.

The question is, of course: Has the movement come too late to overtake Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon?

The final answer to that question may lie in a variety of circumstances which are beyond Humphrey's control. He is campaigning, however, as if he could singlehandedly even the odds, before Election Day, by an act of personal stamina and will.

It was to have been a "unity" campaign which Humphrey announced last spring, a presidential campaign suffused with the "politics of joy." Democratic party unity was already frayed, however, and it was completely torn by the turbulent national convention.

Toil quickly replaced joy as Humphrey's campaign hallmark. Long ago the vice president began to go all-out. He is running for president just as hard as he can.

He is crisscrossing the country, making six to eight appearances in each 14 to 18-hour day. He is hoarse by noon. He is tired, of course, and almost always he talks too long. When he concludes, with an underdog's plaintive plea for support, his voice breaks like a bad baritone's.

If the simple joy has gone out of all this, a good deal of humor remains. Humphrey wryly explained his own plight to a group of Los Angeles clergymen last week.

"It's a little like trying to give eight good sermons a day," he said, "and, in the meantime, trying to take up the collection and keep the church open."

There really is something of the evangelist's sermons in Humphrey's electioneering, as the campaign nears its end.

Basically, he is selling the record — his own record as a champion of liberal causes and the record of Democratic administrations since Franklin Roosevelt. A single speech may call all the turns from the first Social Security bill through Headstart and the nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

There is a fervor to the salesmanship, however, when Humphrey promises top priority to ending the war in Vietnam. He tells his audiences that they can trust him, and he looks hopefully to the day when the world will enjoy an atmosphere of "common trust."

Flattering story for LBJ

By DONALD R. LARRABEE

Record Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — A small book has just been published by the White House with the help of hundreds of bureaucrats and about 20 Democrats in Congress. It is a flattering history of the Johnson years, with introductory material by Speaker John W. McCormack and Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield.

The "Johnson Story" isn't yet available in the bookstores under one cover but perhaps it's only a matter of time. It appears in scattered sections of the last two issues of the Congressional Record before Congress adjourned on October 14.

This is a partisan history that makes Lyndon B. Johnson look like one of the great presidents of all time. Republicans predicted last Spring that the book would be compiled. The White House denied it until Sen. John Williams (R-Del.) produced a copy of a directive to all agencies to prepare a summary of their major accomplishments since 1963.

One can only guess how many civil servants labored to put together the glowing accounts—but it must run into the hundreds. The cost in time and salaries of men and women who are supposed to be working for the taxpayers isn't a calculable figure.

The printing cost, minimal by federal standards, is probably around $5,000, based on the current official estimate of $120 a page. Very little editing was done on the copy which was obviously written downtown and handed to the Administration's best friends on Capitol Hill to insert in the record. There is much duplication of material.

And, in one instance, the same article appears in separate sections under the by-lines of two different persons. Sen. John Sparkman D-Ala. and Rep. Emilio Daddario are both credited with writing "American Space Achievements under Lyndon B. Johnson."

McCormack, for his part, accepts the fact that "historians may differ when they look at the record of these times" but, in his personal evaluation of the ten most "significant" measures enacted in this century, the Massachusetts man finds that six of them bear the signature of the 36th president of the United States—Johnson. McCormack confines himself to domestic legislation and none of the laws is associated with John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's big achievements, according to the

The Pennsylvania Story

Prosperity years

EDITOR'S NOTE: Columnist Mason Denison whose daily column is syndicated in more than 50 newspapers throughout Pennsylvania has asked both Democratic Presidential Candidate Hubert H. Humphrey and Republican Presidential Candidate Richard M. Nixon to serve as "guest columnists", to express their personal thoughts on the theme: "Why Pennsylvania should go Democratic (or Republican) and Pennsylvania's importance in the 1968 Presidential Election."

By HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

Democratic Presidential Candidate

HARRISBURG — Although voters face crucial decisions on Nov. 5, they are being denied a face-to-face encounter by the presidential candidates to help determine where each aspirant stands.

Sadly, at this writing, the Republican candidate is still unwilling to trust his ideas and his views on the important issues in this campaign to a free, give-and-take discussion before a national television audience.

I believe the American voter wants real answers to current problems. He does not want pat slogans or appeals to fear.

I am therefore delighted to have this opportunity to sketch out for syndicated columnist Mason Denison my views on some of the major issues: continued and increased economic prosperity, crime, Vietnam, and the strategy for peace.

Economic priority

Prosperity—The chief economic priority for the Humphrey Administration will be maintaining steady, full employment, economic growth with reasonable price stability. We shall act to increase the prosperity of every American family and to aid those who have been economically left behind to help themselves.

We shall not return to the Republican-Nixon policies of economic neglect which caused no less than three recessions between 1953 and 1961. Pennsylvania suffered much during each of those downturns.

Nearly 200,000 Pennsylvania jobs were lost during the Republican period as compared with a job increase of 465,000 in the state during the Democratic Administration.

Each Pennsylvanian's real personal income, which discounts all increases in living costs, increased an average of $880 or 26 per cent during the Kennedy-Johnson-Humphrey Administration as compared with a puny $203 or eight per cent during the Republican Nixon regime.

A Pennsylvania family of four had $2,720 more purchasing power in 1967 than it had in 1960.

And Pennsylvania farmers saw their real income go up $1,448 in the Democratic period

Bob Considine

Poor Jim Thorpe

NEW YORK — The immortal Jim Thorpe was stripped of his Olympic medals because it was discovered, sometime after he won them, that he had once played a little semi-pro baseball under an assumed name during school vacations.

Jim was a piker compared to some of today's so-called amateurs. In effect, he sold Manhattan Island all over again for $26 and a few beads. There were United States Olympic athletes at Mexico City, and there have been star tennis amateurs for many years, who made more money in five minutes by posing with a particular company's piece of equipment, or article of clothing, than Thorpe made for a whole sweaty season as a semi-pro.

The often fatuous International Olympic Committee is studying the current scandal, including the mystery of how a couple of our gold medal winners not otherwise employed were able to bring their wives to Mexico City and live like lords.

A majority of the Olympic athletes could not pass muster if the Olympic code of ethics was enforced. The notorious scoff laws, of course, are the Iron Curtain stars. They rate special extra-calorie rations during training, are given good-paying jobs that in no way tax them, receive pay raises, bonuses and better jobs if they perform well in the Games.

There wasn't any clothing payola in the early Olympics.

Everybody ran naked.

And lateness was prohibited.

Like tennis, the Olympics will eventually go straight by concluding that in these days it's as hard to tell the difference between pros, as compared with only $136 in the Republican years.

Crime—Every government—federal, state and local—has an obligation to prevent riots and disorder. We cannot build a just society in the midst of violence.

What is needed is action against crime and against disorder—not words, especially words of hate and fear.

I have proposed specific actions. They include:

—Federal support of state and local law enforcement, so that state and local officials can hire more police, raise their pay and provide them with more training.

—A sharp step-up in the battle against organized crime.

—Federal aid to improve local facilities useful in the war against crime.

—Specific action against juvenile crime.

—A 10-fold increase in the funds for the Safe Streets Act.

—Creation of a Council of Civil Peace to provide early warning signals on possible disorders, and the use of specially trained and equipped National Guard and police units if disorders break out.

Law and order

But we cannot expect the police or the National Guard to solve society's problems. In the Humphrey Administration, the preservation of law and order will be coupled with the advancement of justice and individual liberty.

Vietnam and the Strategy for Peace—The world is breathlessly waiting for developments in the Paris peace negotiations. Hopefully, great progress will have been made—and perhaps even a cease-fire reached before the new Administration comes to office on January 20, 1969.

But if the war is still on, I shall undertake the steps I have outlined in my September 30 television broadcast to the nation. I would not undertake a unilateral withdrawal, nor would I escalate the level of violence.

Our strategy for peace must go beyond an honorable and just settlement in Vietnam. I have made specific proposals, including one for a new diplomacy involving frank and informal contacts with the Russians and other nations.

We shall seek sound and effective agreements to reduce the danger of nuclear conflicts throughout the world. We shall never be too proud to talk, to negotiate, to seek peace. We shall be flexible. We know that our national has an awesome responsibility.

But we shall also maintain the military strength of the United States. We shall not penny-pinch our defenses, as the last Nixon-Republican Administration did. We shall be prepared.

semi-pros and amateurs as it is to separate salt, pepper and mustard seed while wearing 16-ounce boxing gloves. There's sure to be an Open Olympics, as soon as Avery Brundage hangs up his shirt.

Speaking of Thorpe's repossessed medals, after he won so gallantly at Stockholm in 1912, the Swedish Olympic modern pentathlon team has been ordered to return its bronze medals. The charge: One of its members, Hans Gunnar Liljenvall, 27, took a shot of Aquavit or some other booze before going into battle.

This means that France's team, which won fourth and out of the money, now is moved up to third and gets the medals. It's too late to give the Frenchmen the saliva test. For all we'll ever know, they may have plunged into the fray making sloshing noises from partaking of a nice bottle of Grey-Vichy-Chambertin, Combe Aux Moines '55 — a pretentious little wine.

Walter Hagen wouldn't have submitted to the paltry deal that was given to Liljenvall. In the 1940 U.S. Open, poor but honest "Forky" Oliver was disqualified by some puffed up U.S. Golf Assn. official for showing up two or three minutes late to begin one of his rounds.

The next day the great Hagen sauntered to the first tee a good 10 minutes late. He looked the official in the eye, nice and steady, daring him.

The official swallowed. "Practicing a few shots, Haig?" he asked uneasily.

"No, having a few shots," Hagen said, relentlessly, and teed off.

Little editing in history of Johnson administration who pens an epic of great growth; "Lyndon B. Johnson: the Senior Citizens President," also by Mr. Montoya.

Then, there's "Lyndon B. Johnson—a Great Consumer President" by Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island, with a companion piece in the House by Rep. Patsy Mink of Hawaii. Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma writes how "President Johnson worked for a Safer and Healthier America" while Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia contributes two articles: "President Johnson—Housing for a Nation" and "American Education has Gained Under President Johnson."

Rep. John Rooney of New York calls LBJ "The Nation's First Urban President". Rep. Spark Matsunaga of Hawaii entitles his contribution "President Johnson Did More for United States War Veterans." Sen. Fred Harris again authors "President Johnson: Civil Rights for All Americans" and there's a piece by Sen. Stephen Young of Ohio: "American Labor and the Johnson Administration."

There's only one section missing in the book—an epilogue explaining why this great American President and benefactor of mankind was not persuaded to remain in office for another four years, even against his wishes.

Ann Landers

Abuse based in insecurity

Dear Ann Landers: What is wrong with a person who insists on making scenes in restaurants? My brother-in-law seems to enjoy bawling out waiters, yelling at busboys—anything to get attention.

Although no one else seems to notice, he's constantly complaining that the silverware isn't clean, the glasses are cloudy, the table linen is wrinkled, the sugar is lumpy, the salt shakers don't pour freely, the service is slow, there's too much noise in the kitchen—and on and on and on. Why would a person behave like this?

EMBARRASSED

Dear Em: Anyone who must abuse waiters and busboys and find fault with the silver, the glasses, the linen, the salt and sugar, etc., is pathetically insecure. If and when your brother-in-law develops some self-esteem and a measure of contentment, he will not find it necessary to abuse those who are paid to serve him to prove that he is better than they are.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband left for Vietnam one month after our son was born. My father has become so attached to little Ricky that it is making me nervous. Dad comes over every evening to see the boy. On weekends he takes Rick to the park, the pool, the fair and shopping. Of course I go along but I feel like a third wheel because Dad takes complete charge.

I see a father-son relationship developing and I'm afraid when my husband returns, there will be trouble. Please tell me what to do.

ANONYMOUSLY WORRIED

Dear Worried: Your child is fortunate to have an adoring grandfather who wants to spend time with him while his daddy is at war. When your husband returns he will assume the father role in due time and Grandpa will step back. Relax.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 14 and love children, especially babies. Being an only child, I haven't had much experience taking care of them. When I babysit it's usually for five-year-olds and up.

A woman I sit for now is expecting a new baby in January. She has already promised me her business.

I am afraid I don't know enough about taking care of infants, Ann, but I'd like to learn. What do you suggest?

WILLING

Dear Willing: The best way to learn to care for a new baby is by letting the mother teach you. Ask the woman if she will allow you to watch her feed and change the baby. Then ask if you can "practice" in her presence.

There are also schools and organizations such as the Red Cross which conduct "well baby clinics." Some of them will allow a conscientious sitter to attend classes when there is room to spare. Call and inquire.

McGovern facing challenge

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — South Dakota is largely a rural state, but its Senate race this year still appears to be shaping up along town vs. country lines.

The race is between Sen. George S. McGovern, who was a Democratic challenger for the presidential nomination, and former Gov. Archie Gubbrud, Republican.

Although McGovern's bid for the presidency stole the show for some time in South Dakota, Gubbrud is well known in this traditionally Republican state. Besides being an ex-governor, he is a former legislator and speaker of the state house.

The latest South Dakota poll, conducted by three daily newspapers, shows McGovern leading 51 to 42 per cent, with 7 per cent undecided.

The poll is broken down between rural and urban areas. In farming and ranching areas McGovern, who is seeking his second term, leads the former governor 56 to 38 per cent and in the small communities 53 to 40 per cent. However, in the large communities Gubbrud led, 47 to 45 per cent.

McGovern won his 1962 election on the strength of the rural vote.

Gubbrud has not committed himself on the Vietnam war. However, he has said vigorous support of "our fighting men" is as necessary as vigorous support for peace in Vietnam. He said continued support of GIs in Vietnam will not diminish the prospects for peace.

McGovern has mellowed on his total, all-out position against the war in Vietnam. It's mentioned, but his approach has changed from "immediate withdrawal" to a "systematic reduction" of American troops in Vietnam.

Outgrowing 'Bunny Brains'

seem to indicate some interest in sex. When she caught her husband cheating, she shot him in the leg. A neighbor of mine has an English license to practice midwifery. HGB would probably find all of them dull. Write something in our defense."

To begin with, I know Helen Gurly Brown as intimately as I know Perry Mason. I have viewed her on the Mike Douglas Show and read her magazine a couple of times in the obstetrician's office. My reaction is always the same, "Thank God I've outgrown that period of my life." I call it the Bunny Brain period where everything was a trauma. A simple pimple would send me to my room where my family would rescue me from an overdose of chocolates just in time. Saturday night without a date would send me crawling on my knees to the gates of the local convent begging to be admitted. And if a boy inadvertently bumped my elbow I would laugh outrageously for five or ten minutes in giddy anticipation. I had three words in my vocabulary, "You're a scream."

There is something warm, wonderful and comfortable about being a wife and mother. Are we shallow? To someone whose life depends on a popped-out pimple? Maybe. Are we dull? To someone who stands around the water cooler all day saying, "You're a scream," I suppose so. Is sex dominated by the single girl? Could be. But when a mother of 24 children shoots her husband in the leg for wandering... makes you wonder.

The Constitution of the United States was conceived and written by God-fearing men who defied tyranny and, with faith in the supreme will of a Sovereign God, in the spirit of humility and dependence upon that God, took courageous action to form a government with the inherent freedoms for which they fought and died. There was no possibility of that government being defeated by any enemy as long as those men in authority continued to want to have an independent government, and followed the simple rules laid down in the Constitution.

For many years the men elected by the people of this free nation have chosen a deliberate course of self destruction. A sure method of destroying a government is to have continual deficit spending. Both Democrat and Republican parties have done exactly that for over thirty years.

"Some of my best friends are communists," said a former famous President. "We will bury you," said a former famous communist leader. We continue to aid Russia to keep them from starving, and to help them supply our enemies, even while our men are being killed and wounded in the most prolonged war in our history. This war is a great deal more important than is generally recognized, for if we come out of Vietnam as disgracefully as we did Korea, no United States representative will ever be respected again. We, and the free world, will have been defeated. Remote as the possibility may seem now, you can rest assured that the communists will take over the balance of the free governments of the world. They took Poland, Hungary, and built a wall through Berlin while we did nothing. We then assisted them to take over Cuba, betraying the patriots of that country at the Bay of Pigs.

The battle is being waged within our own country as well. Minority groups defy the law on college campuses and in the city streets. Supreme Court decisions defend the rights of communists and criminals at the expense of responsible citizens. Our government continues to go "in the red" year after year. Can this be for the political advantage of those in office at the time? Our currency is no longer backed by gold bullion and our coins are minted of worthless metal. This is a sure sign of a faltering economy, and you cannot imagine the satisfaction this caused in Moscow.

It has already been proposed in Congress that our armed forces be put under the control of the United Nations. With Russia exercising three votes to our one vote in the United Nations, this would practically put our defenses in their hands. Alger Hiss, one time top communist in this country, was one of the authors of the United Nations Charter.

Citizens of America, STAND UP FOR AMERICA. We are facing one of the most crucial elections of our history. Make it your business to read the record of George Wallace. We need a man who will be firm with the Russians, re-establish respect for law and order, and curb reckless spending. Granted, one man cannot do this alone, but if he is willing to try, and can enlist the help of the people, including you and I, through our vote for him, the possibility of changing our mad plunge to insolvency and anarchy does exist. This is the last and only hope for our country as we know it now.

Our greatest strength lies in the God who created us. The communist, in denying God, denies himself this great and all important power in life. Win, lose, or draw, if you have accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour, then you are destined for Heaven for eternity. If you believe with the communist that God is dead, or Christ was not the Son of God, you can anticipate eternity in Hell. God has a plan for the world which He has ordained since before the beginning of time. You can discover that plan by faithful study of God's Word, with prayer for His guidance. Let us consider one verse which applies to this situation:

Matthew, Chapter 10, Verse 28: "And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him which is able to destroy both body and soul in Hell."

I suggest for your consideration that God's plan is far along the way, and that we must keep a constant watch for His return.

Dr. Frank D. Sills, college president, said that the new dormitory will afford 300 women the opportunity to attend college as resident students.

Planners discuss future water needs

BRODHEADSVILLE — Chestnut Hill Township Planning Commission is exploring possible future use of the headwaters of McMichael's Creek as a source of water supply with an eye on a more populated township.

During the regular meeting in Pleasant Valley High School Tuesday night, Dr. John Martucci, chairman, said he talked with officials of the Pohokone Fish Association, who own the headwaters property. The association was in favor of the proposal with reservations, however, that fish life would be preserved.

Dr. Martucci said that should a reservoir be constructed, the association suggests that the overflow or excess water be drained from the bottom of the reservoir to maintain the desirable surface water temperature for marine and insect life.

The commission also explored ideas of conducting public meetings on planning and heard suggestions given by John Withrow, Monroe County Extension Agent.

Participation Withrow said he could help the commission in its efforts to get the community to participate in planning through educational programs, either through the school or during regular planning meetings.

Withrow said he can make arrangements to have an extension resource development agent from Cornell University come to a public meeting with an educational program since the agent has had previous dealings with rural community planning in New York in a four county area.

Martucci said priority is on a community attitude survey. "We've got to find out what the people really want, if they want it at all. We've got to get their interest," Martucci noted.

Survey The commission had previously recommended the survey be initiated by the supervisors but it has been tabled. The supervisors said cost for the survey will be considered during the next budget meeting, according to Martucci.

Martucci and members of the commission pleaded that the survey should not be postponed and that the supervisors consider taking immediate steps to get the formal in writing and distributed. A request in writing will be directed to the supervisors.

The planners decided there were other needs which the commission should have as reference information and will request in writing from the supervisors copies of all active township ordinances, copy of the township audit and will question supervisors as to degree and procedure of enforcement for all ordinances.

During a recent conversation with officials of the county planning commission, Martucci reported that the county planners will help. "We should hold on and will be given more definite help when the county commission gets organized," Martucci said.

The township planners had previously requested assistance from the county but the reply was they were over burdened at the present and are in process of seeking a new county planner.

Martucci and members agreed "we will have to do it on our own," and each will make a tentative land use survey of the township. The Soil Conservation Service is expected to furnish the planners with their soil survey and land use map in November.

Murder probe continues

STROUDSBURG — The investigation into the murder of Alfred L. Barnes, 41, of Bethlehem, moved into the second week as police resumed the hunt early Monday morning. Barnes was found Saturday, Oct. 19, lying face down in an open field near Effort. He had two bullet holes in his head and another in his hand.

Police have ruled out robbery as a motive for the killing and said there was no connection in his death with another murder in the Wyoming Valley Area during the same weekend. Police also said there was no connection with Barnes and the capture of some arms and ammunition in the Blairstown area.

The arms and ammunition was stated to be sent to Cuba by some persons in the New Jersey town.

State Police from Hazleton, Fern Ridge, Bethlehem and New Jersey State Police have been inquiring into the dead man's background — his friends and haunts.

Barnes was employed as a secretary at Bethlehem Steel Co., Bethlehem, and had on many occasions visited resorts in the Pocono Mountains.

State Police from Hazleton have asked anyone in the Poconos who knew the dead man to give the information to the nearest state police station. The information will be kept confidential.

Woman wins tree award

CRESCO — Mrs. Irene Mervine of Saylorsburg is the 1968 winner of the Dale H. Learn Award given by the Pocono Forestry Association.

The award was made at a recent meeting of the association at Crescent Lodge in Cresco. The award is made to the person who plants the most trees in the Pocono area.

The association also presented the Conservation Award to Sterling Wagner of Pocono Lake.

In other business, John H. Bitzer was elected president of the association. Other officers elected were James P. Smith, vice president; Horace Walters, secretary; and Mrs. Carolyn Smith, treasurer.

New board of directors elected were Ralph W. Knapp, George W. Raish Sr., and Sterling Wagner.

H. K. Lee Jr. was named to replace John Eekes on the board and Bruce Vandegriff was named to the steering committee.

Mount Airy turned into haven for Czechoslovakian refugees

MOUNT POCONO — Seeking a better life in the United States and refugees from political Czechoslovakians will be given a chance to do just that while living and working at Mount Airy Lodge, their sponsor.

The refugees were among 165 other Czechoslovakians who arrived in the United States over the weekend aboard a plane chartered by the International Committee for European Migration. It is the largest single group brought here since the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in August.

Emil Wagner, manager of Mount Airy and a refugee of 16 years ago welcomed the group, speaking in Slovak, assuring them of their opportunities and offering them advice not to abuse their privilege.

Eleven of the newcomers decided to take jobs offered by the Lodge. Mostly as waiters and maids, Wagner said he had arranged for other hotel-owners to take in several hundred more refugees.

Vojtech Jerabek, executive secretary of the American Fund for Czechoslovakian Refugees, made the trip to the Poconos with the newcomers. The organization carries on its work in this country entirely with private contributions.

The new guests discussed various reasons for leaving their home country, some of them saying they were afraid of political persecution, that the brief period of liberalization had been brought to an end by the Soviet occupation and others just thought they could have a better life in the United States.

Some of the refugees expressed disbelief in the generosity and hospitality of the Lodge and its manager but were constantly reassured they would not have to pay for it. Language barriers created some simpler, unexpected difficulties when the newcomers asked for special needs and items.

Notre Dame advances three spellers

EAST STROUDSBURG — Three pupils at Notre Dame Catholic High School, East Stroudsburg, have advanced into the semifinals of the Monroe County Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Optimist Club of the Stroudsburgs.

They are: Theodore Stevens, son of Mrs. Patricia Stevens, 899 Scott St., Stroudsburg, ninth grade; Theresa Resh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Resh, 407 Normal St., East Stroudsburg, eighth grade, and Claire Elaine Kasperski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kasperski, 127 Elizabeth St., East Stroudsburg, seventh grade.

Since there is only one homeroom in each grade at Notre Dame, the three winners have earned an automatic bye into the semifinal round which will be held Dec. 9 at East Stroudsburg High School Auditorium.

They will compete against winners from the other Monroe County schools in their respective grade levels. The three winners will receive silver medals.

Candidates speak today

EAST STROUDSBURG — Congressman Fred B. Rooney and Peter J. O'Brien, Democratic candidates in the upcoming election, will be guest speakers at a meeting being held at East Stroudsburg State College.

Rooney is a candidate for reelection to the Congress from the 15th district. O'Brien, a native of Mount Pocono, is the Democratic candidate for the 139th District seat in the General Assembly.

Fraternity to watch for parade vandals

EAST STROUDSBURG — Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity will assist the Pocono Mountain Jaycees during the annual Halloween Parade Thursday night, according to Bill O'Brien, a spokesman for the fraternity at East Stroudsburg State College. "More than 25 men of the fraternity will assist in parade formation, marching with the bands, patrolling the parade route, and the judge's stand. They will be watching for possible acts of vandalism," O'Brien said.

O'Brien said that should any acts of vandalism occur this year there will be no parade next year.

The parade will form at East Stroudsburg High School parking lot at 6:30 p.m. and, according to O'Brien, will move out at 7 p.m. sharp.

The judges will be Terrance Bartholomew, Sally Ferrehbe, Mimi Nauman and Mrs. James Staples. The judge's stand will be located at Seventh and Main Streets in Stroudsburg.

First and second place prizes will be awarded to the following categories:

Goody bags to be filled tonight

Delaware Water Gap youngsters will observe the annual goody collection from 7 to 9 p.m., while Kresgeville children will have from 6:30 to 9 p.m. to gather their treats.

All borough officials and police chiefs have expressed hopes of receiving full cooperation from parents who will observe safety precautions in regard to their children who will be out during the hours of darkness.

Motorists are also asked to be particularly careful and observant of small children who will be out for Trick or Treat Night.

Women set to watch polls

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Charles Boster and Mrs. Samuel Newman of the League of Women Voters of the Stroudsburgs have been designated by the American Broadcasting Co. network to be election reporters this year.

For each national election, the television networks choose a number of "key precincts" throughout the country on which to base the early computer predictions of the final vote. The ABC network has asked the League of Women Voters of the United States to report the vote tallies from these "Key Precincts."

Two districts in Monroe County have been selected this year. Mrs. Newman will report for East Stroudsburg Ward Two, and Mrs. Boster will report for Pocono Township.

Totals will be relayed through a special telephone network into the computers which predict the outcome of the election.

Old robbery still mystery

STROUDSBURG — The robbery of a stamp and coin collection last August remains a mystery to Stroud Township Police.

On Aug. 26, a person or persons broke into the home of George Mackey at Stroudsburg R.D. 4 by entering the cellar door and then going upstairs.

Taken from the home was a coin and stamp collection valued by the owner at $1,000.

Instructional media training in East Stroudsburg school

EAST STROUDSBURG — Instructional Media Trainers from eleven school districts in Monroe, Northampton and Pike Counties met Tuesday in the Instructional Materials Center in the J. S. Bunnell School, East Stroudsburg.

The meeting was one of a series in project 11 which will run from September, 1968, to June 1970.

Tuesday's session was conducted by Dr. Roland Hughes and Palmer Dyer, both of Temple University.

The primary purpose of Project 11 is to improve the quality of classroom instruction by increasing the use of a variety of instructional media in the educational process.

The project is intended to lead to state certification by the State Department of Public Instruction in instructional media for the trainers.

East Stroudsburg State faces the biggest threat to an undefeated season this Saturday when it travels to Dover, Del., to take on Delaware State.

Although only 4-3, the Hornets have lost to the eighth and ninth ranked small college teams in the country, Morgan State and Indiana. Their third loss was to Hampton Institute, 20-14, on a disputed play in the closing seconds.

Head coach Charlie Reese claims Delaware State is the best football team his Warriors will face since West Chester. There has even been some rumors on campus that several of the players have been pointing to the Hornets as "the game."

Delaware State has 21 players on its team that tip the scales at 200 pounds or better. But, the thing that worries Reese most, is not their size but speed. The Hornets use a very basic offense and most of their scores have been on runs of 50 yards or more.

The Hornets opened the season by bowing to Indiana (Pa.), 17-0. After the contest, Indiana coach Klausung called them "the best coached team he faced in some time."

Delaware State then turned around and beat Clarion, Western Conference champions, the last two years, 34-22, and Montclair State, 34-14. After the disputed loss to Hampton Institute, the Hornets registered two straight shutouts, 48-0 over Howard, and 17-0 over St. Paul's. Last week Delaware State was outclassed by Morgan State, 38-3. One ESSC scout noted that as big as Delaware State is, it looked like a high school team along side Morgan State.

Delaware State has an outstanding offensive center in George Lewis (5-9, 215) and a dangerous halfback in Steve Davis, a 6-4, 210-pound sophomore. On defense, tackle Bryan Jones (6-1, 240), linebacker Glen James (6-2, 215) and defensive halfback Dwight Williams (5-11, 180) caught the attention of the Warrior scouts. In addition to the tremendous size in the line, the Hornets have exceptional speed in the secondary.

Reese felt the Warriors played well against Millersville but all of the players were "dejected about the 21 points scored."

On the first touchdown (a 45-yard screen pass) defensive end Bob Malehorn (who suffered a slight neck sprain) read the play perfectly but lost his footing and once the pass was completed it was an easy TD. The second TD was the result of one of the most "outrageous" calls Reese has ever seen. The third score came against the ESSC reserves when the Warrior defensive back didn't time his leap properly for a pass in the end zone.

In addition to Malehorn, another defensive end George Brittain was the only casualty. Brittain sprained an ankle on a kickoff early in the first period but was given immediate attention and watched the second half in civies with an ice-pack on the ankle. By Monday the swelling was gone and he was running almost as good as new.

Singled out for the play last week were John Pitzer, offensive back, who had his second straight 100-plus rushing performance; Merv Wilmer, offensive lineman, who got a strong rating of 88 per cent; Tom Sykes, defensive back, who led in tackles with 12 and Ed Hawrylo and Jerry Clymer, defensive linemen. Hawrylo caused three fumbles with his hard hitting Little Charlie Corrado won the haircut award and Sykes will be honorary game captain this week.

Wherever we go fans continue to be amazed at the size of the ESSC squad. Reese also commented on this fact when he said, "people at the motels where we have stayed the past two weekends are impressed with the gentlemanly conduct of the boys and most of them think we are a high school team."

The Warriors plan to leave Friday morning and hold a workout in the afternoon at Wesley Junior College in Dover.

East Stroudsburg State has yet to make an impression with any of the board of experts that vote for the top small college teams in the country. But Reese feels that with a good showing Saturday the Warriors may just open the eyes of some of those "experts."

Charlie Bradshaw resigns as Kentucky grid coach

LLEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—University of Kentucky football coach Charlie Bradshaw submitted his resignation Tuesday night saying he hoped his decision would help clear the air after five losing seasons in six campaigns.

"I have always felt when I truly believed that I could best serve our football program at the University of Kentucky by resigning I would do so," Bradshaw said.

"To those who have cared as we have cared I hope you know I am not quitting," he said. "This clears the air and brings everything out in the open which I feel will make for a more wholesome situation."

Bradshaw submitted his resignation to Acting University President A. D. Kirwan and told his players of the decision after Tuesday's practice session.

In six seasons, the former UK end won 20 games, lost 26 and tied 4. His only winning season came in 1965 when the Wildcats compiled a 6-4 record.

So far this season, Kentucky is at the bottom of the Southeastern Conference with a 2-4 record, its only victories coming against non-conference foes Missouri and Oregon State.

His resignation is to become effective after this season, leaving the way open for him to assume other duties, possibly athletic director. After the 1965 season he was given a unique "lifetime" contract which assured him tenure similar to university academic personnel.

The athletic director post at the university has been vacant since December when Bernie A. Shively, who had served since 1930, died unexpectedly. Assistant basketball coach Harry Lancaster has been serving as acting athletic director.

The UK Board of Trustees this summer voted to postpone action on naming William McCubbin, head of the physical education department at Virginia Tech, as athletic director. Bradshaw was the only other person being seriously considered for the job at that time and it was felt the board's decision virtually assured him of the job.

McCubbin later withdrew his name from consideration upon learning of the board's move.

Bradshaw, 43, a native of Montgomery, Ala., played end for Kentucky during the Paul "Bear" Bryant years at UK in the late 1940s. He returned to his alma mater as head coach in 1962.

LaSalle censured by NCAA

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—College athletic teams won't be able to rest easy until the strong-willed council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association adjourns today.

The 18-member council censured LaSalle College of Philadelphia, St. Bonaventure University of New York and Florida State University Tuesday and placed their basketball teams on probation for rules violations.

The action made the three colleges ineligible for post season basketball tournaments during the probation period. The rulings were made during the council's three-day fall meeting in St. Louis, during which preparations will be made for the NCAA convention in Los Angeles next January.

Arthur J. Bergstrom, assistant executive director of the NCAA, said reports on violations at other colleges were expected to be submitted today by the association's committee on infractions.

The council placed LaSalle on two years probation for reported violations including a threat by former varsity basketball coach Jim Harding last season to end the financial aid to two basketball players because of their poor court play.

The report also said a LaSalle basketball coach "advised at least one student-athlete to withhold information at the time the student was to be interviewed by a representative of the NCAA committee on infractions."

The other two schools were each placed on probation for one year.

The council said Florida State University basketball coaches "organized and conducted drills and practice sessions" for prospective athletic scholarship winners.

Florida State athletic director Vaughan Mancha responded to the probation, saying the basketball coaches had displayed "poor judgment."

"I am disappointed the violations took place in the basketball program," Mancha said. "I feel the basketball coaches used poor judgment in allowing these infractions to take place."

Mollenkopf stricken with hepatitis

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Football Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue was hospitalized with acute infectious hepatitis Tuesday and possibly may be out of action the rest of the season.

Mollenkopf's ailment was discovered during a physical examination he took when he believed he had a recurrence of influenza which sidelined him briefly a week ago.

The nature of his illness prompted doctors to order immunization shots for nine coaching assistants who had been with Mollenkopf in recent days.

Dr. Loyal W. Combs, director of the university health service, said the seriousness of hepatitis is variable. But he said Mollenkopf will be out for "a minimum of three weeks."

If Mollenkopf returned to coaching three weeks from the date of his hospitalization, it would be in time to take the Boilermakers through their final paces in preparation for the season closing game with Indiana Nov. 23.

But there was a chance he would have to miss that game, too.

Associates said Mollenkopf was in isolation at Home Hospital, with no visitors permitted.

Coach Bob DeMoss, assistant in charge of offense, took over the direction of the team for its game Saturday against Illinois.

Hayward upsets Griffith; earns shot at Benvenuti

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Stanley "Kitten" Hayward of Philadelphia, fighting for the first time as a middleweight, scored an upset, split decision Tuesday night over Emile Griffith, the tough former welter and middleweight champion, in their 10-round bout at the Spectrum.

Hayward's surprise victory earned him a possible shot at the middleweight crown of Nino Benvenuti, a prize both fighters sought avidly.

Hayward, at 155, the heaviest in his ring career, piled up an early lead over Griffith, 158, of the Virgin Islands via New York. The former champ rallied in the later rounds using his experience to advantage but the clock ran out on him.

Judge Jack Styles scored it 44-47 in favor of Griffith while Judge Lou Press and Referee Zack Clayton both had it 47-46 for Hayward.

Hayward scored repeatedly with sharp lefts to the head and kept Griffith away despite the New Yorker's efforts to tie him up. Griffith's head shook from a hard left in the fourth round but the blow had little effect on him.

Griffith came on midway through the fight. His experience gained in piling up a 55-9-1.

Bullets race to 6th win

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The surprising Baltimore Bullets, behind their shooting by Kevin Loughery, Earl Monroe and Ray Scott, broke to a 36 point lead, then held off a fierce comeback to beat the Milwaukee Bucks 129-122 Tuesday night.

The Bullets, who finished last a year ago in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, upped their record to 6-3 as Loughery scored 20 points.

Monroe 25 and Scott 22. John McEllocklin and Fred Hetzel led the Milwaukee expansion team, now 0-5, with 21 points apiece.

The Bullets, down by 25-21 after one period, outscored Milwaukee 45-19 in the second period for a 60-41 halftime lead. They increased it to 99-63 late in the third period by outturning the Bucks and forcing them into numerous mistakes and missing easy shots.

McEllocklin and reserve Bob Weiss got hot as Milwaukee outscored Baltimore 27-8 at the start of the fourth period and closed to within 117-106 with 4:22 left.

record compared to Hayward's 25-3-3 log became evident as he stowed down his opponent and scored with short right hands to the head. He landed a left flush on Hayward's chin in the seventh round but Hayward fought back with lefts to the body.

Griffith tried desperately to score the telling blow with a short right in the eighth and ninth rounds but Hayward fought enough to preserve his early lead and win the split decision. The all-out effort in the 10th had both fighters tired when the bell sounded but neither was marked. There were no knockdowns in the fast-moving bout.

Promoter Lou Lucchese had promised Hayward he would offer welterweight champ Curtis Cokes $50,000 for a Hayward bout if the Philadelphia beat Griffith. Hayward's manager announced last week, however, that his fighter would campaign as a middleweight from now on because of his weight problem but conceded his fighter could "dry out" enough for a championship bout with Cokes.

Worried about answering a blind box number ad?
(Because you don't know who the advertiser is?)
If you are worried about answering one of these blind ads—since it may be your own firm—simply do this:
Place your letter of application in an envelope addressed to the box number and seal it. Then put the envelope in another envelope addressed to the Classified Dept., The Pocono Record, and enclose the money you do NOT want to receive your reply. If one of the companies (or individuals) who have placed the ad, we will simply forward your reply, but we cannot return your letter without violating the confidence of our advertisers.

Don't walk over to him

By JEAN ADAMS

WALK? (Q.) I like a boy. He lives within walking distance of me. Could I walk over to see him without seeming too obvious and pushy? If so, what excuse could I give for going?

L.G. of Syracuse, N.Y.

(A.) If you can't attract this boy's attention without walking over to let him see you, maybe you had better think a while about your appearance and personality.

Don't hunt an excuse, and don't take the walk. If you do, the boy will react in one of two ways: He'll know you're pushing him, no matter what excuse you give.

FAR BUT NEAR: (Q.) I'm planning a party. My parents will be the chaperones. They and I want to know where they should stay.

The guests will be in the living room, den, and kitchen. My parents have a TV in their room, and it's near enough for them to hear us. Would it be all right for them to stay there?

A Reader in Kent, Wash.

(A.) Your parents should be far enough away to let your guests feel that they have privacy. They should be close enough to make your guests feel that they have chaperones.

Your plan for them to stay in their own room is ideal. They can peek in ever so often to let all of you know they're around. And they can join you to help serve refreshments. Have fun!

Some disappointed people Saturday night—they came all the way from Mississippi for a free orchid from our opening last week. No free orchid and no fashion show. They had to settle for a delicious filet mignon. They are now on their way to Wiscasset, Maine to tell their friends about the best U.S. prime meat they ever tasted.

Pocono Mt. Fire Aux. hears Yost

MOUNT POCONO — The Ladies Aux. of the Pocono Mountain Volunteer Fire Co. shared a trip through Russia, Austria, Finland and Germany with Carl Yost, Monroe County Register and Recorder, at their October meeting.

An open discussion followed the showing of the slides he had taken on his trip, with Yost answering questions on his experiences.

Mrs. Robert Altomose presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Francis O'Boyle reported that money aprons of striped denim are being made for the annual 1969 Carnival.

Plans were also made for the annual Christmas dinner party to be held Tuesday, Dec. 10. Mrs. Altomose appointed to the dinner committee, Mrs. Eugene Reed, Mrs. Wesley Mettall, and Mrs. George Clark, and to the program committee, Mrs. William D. Wright, Mrs. Charles Brock, Mrs. Brian B. Walker and Mrs. John Rigney.

The auxiliary will have a trip to the Cherry Valley Convalescent Home early in November. Mrs. William Wright will be in charge.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. August Salerni, Mrs. Ida Schreiber, Mrs. Robert Musgrove, Mrs. Robert Besecker and Mrs. Altomose.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. in the firehall.

Lutheran Men, Women join for supper

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Lutheran Church Men and Lutheran Church Women and their families will hold a joint pre-Thanksgiving covered dish supper on Monday, Nov. 4, at 6:15 in the social hall of the church.

Each family is asked to bring table service and a covered dish. Roast Turkey will be provided.

Sheriff Forrest B. Sebring will be the guest speaker after the dinner.

Mrs. Margaret Batz and William Lee, presidents of the sponsoring organizations, invite the families to attend the social function.

Woman's Club board Monday

STROUDSBURG — The executive board of the Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs will meet on Monday, Nov. 4, at 1 p.m. in the Stroud Community Club.

Reports will be given on the Taste-and-Tell luncheon card party to be held Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 12:30 p.m. at the club house, and the program for the regular meeting on Nov. 11.

Clothes don't make the man—but they sure help shape the manners. Somehow when men and women are all dressed up and confident that they are looking their best, they are friendlier and more outgoing.

And everybody certainly looked their best at the Charity Ball and it was a warm, friendly and yet dignified group to be proud of. Since the first question women ask about the Ball is "What did people wear?" I'll try to answer. Some of them you can see for yourself on the picture page.

The men who made most of the fashion news at last year's charity ball at Buck Hill with their turtleneck formal shirts, broad jackets and such sort of backslid this year into the black and white penguin look.

With exceptions, of course, including Jack Baldwin in a claret dinner jacket with a hand-made white pique turtleneck shirt with silver embroidery which matched Marion's silver accessories. Making news was Howard Atwell who has got an early start on his beard for the East Stroudsburg Centennial in 1970, and a good one it is.

An unusual dress was Mrs. Herbert Crane's long two-piece dress of grey tweed with pockets of jet beads. Rosemary Driebe Olofsson was also wearing grey—in flannel. Mrs. Russell Snyder was in green velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Gravel (Arnold Studio)

Gravel-Weidaw wedding announced

LEHIGHTON — Miss Connie Eileen Weidaw of Leighton, R.D. 4, and Vaughn M. Gravel of Canadensis, were married on Oct. 19 in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, East Weissport.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Weidaw of Leighton R.D. 4. The bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Harriet Gravel of Canadensis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white velvet with white satin accenting the empire waistline. Her detachable chapel train was also of satin. She wore a tulle veil and carried a cascade bouquet.

Her sister, Miss Janie Weidaw, was maid of honor. She wore a full length Victorian style gown of apricot chiffon over taffeta with a ruffled neckline and long sleeves. The empire bodice was trimmed with a wide satin belt. She carried a cascade bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Misses Diane and Joanne Solt, Dianne Reppert of Leighton and Jeanne Frederick of Allentown. They wore gowns of similar style in olive green and carried cascade bouquets.

The flower girl, Shireen Gougher, New Jersey, cousin of the bride, wore a short white dress with tiers of ruffled lace and matching headpiece and carried a basket of pompons.

Michael Megargle of Canadensis was best man. Ushers were Frank Doll, Elaine Gravel, Reed Gravel, Ernest Imhof, all of Canadensis.

David Williams of Canadensis was ring bearer.

A reception was held at the Leighton Arm Vets Home. The mother of the bride received in a pale green crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink ensemble with matching accessories and also had a corsage of rosebuds.

Mrs. Gravel is a graduate of Leighton High School and Allentown Business School. She is employed as secretary to the manager of Skytop Lodge, Skytop.

Her husband is a graduate of Barreil High School and is a journeyman printer at The Pocono Record, Stroudsburg. He served in the U.S. Army in Vietnam in 1965.

To Go With Fowl
Mandarin yams, slightly spiced, are excellent with fried chicken. For 4 to 5 servings: Drain 1 (10 ounce) can of mandarin orange sections; reserve syrup. Combine 2 teaspoons of cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon each of cloves, mace and salt. Gradually add reserved syrup and ½ cup of orange juice, stirring until smooth. Cook over low heat, thickened and clear. Add orange sections and 2 (1 pound) cans of yams, drained. Heat to serving temperature.

Because powdered type confectioners sugar dissolves quickly to a smooth texture, use it to sweeten whipped cream for strawberry shortcake. Add the sugar after the cream is whipped, allowing 4 to 6 tablespoons per cup of heavy cream. When whipped the cream doubles in volume to provide eight to 10 large servings for shortcake or 16 small toppings of two tablespoons each.

Republican Women explode with Nixon material here

STROUDSBURG — The Republican Women's TNT Day exploded with color and campaign material as they held forth in red, white and blue on the porch of the Penn-Stroud Hotel and spread throughout the business district on Saturday.

The gay booth was the work of Evan Scouris and the women distributed campaign pamphlets, pins and stickers.

Redge Nauman provided equipment for broadcasting the music that added to the excitement.

The Republican Women's Councils of the county are invited to attend the 46th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women to be held Nov. 17, 18 and 19 at the Penn-Harris in Harrisburg. Nov. 19 will be the best day for those who can only attend one session.

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead—ten of spades.
I was playing with Howard Schenken in a team of four championship many years ago when this deal arose.
My fourth hand heart bid elicited a long huddle from partner, and the outcome of Schenken's cerebrations was that he jumped directly to four hearts. The trend of his thoughts quickly became apparent as the play progressed.

As the opening lead was made, Schenken put down the dummy and said: "We might have missed seven." When East won the spade, Schenken quietly murmured, "No seven." And when West won the diamond return with the ace, Schenken added, "And no six."

In the meantime I was having a quiet little conversation with myself which ran: "And no five or four either," and it took all my will power to join Schenken in his persistent refrain.
West returned a diamond. I ruffed in dummy and led the queen of hearts, planning to finesse. This somewhat unusual lead had the miraculous effect of annihilating both the king and jack of trumps with one blow, thus saving me a vital trump loser.

My worries were not yet over, since there was still a possibility of losing two club tricks. But the clubs were favorably placed, so I wound up making the contract.
The queen of hearts lead was no stroke of genius on my part, and that it succeeded was far more lucky than clever. Only two combinations exist that can conceivably avoid a trump loser; the actual case and the one where East has the singleton king.
These possibilities are equally likely, but in the former case the queen must be led, while in the latter case a low trump must be led to avoid the loser.

The practical advantage of the queen play instead of the three is that East may make the mistake of not covering with the king when he is dealt K-x, in which case larceny is the only keynote to success.

Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — "They" say the famed opera diva's solace is a multi-million-dollar trust fund. . . . Other shipowners swear on a stack of drachmas that Onassis' fortune is but a fraction of the billion "they" say he flaunts. . . . Among the scandalous details of The Wedding: Jackie's feet are bigger than Garbo's. . . . Dublin's Bob Briscoe's son gave backstage congratulations to Art Carney. . . . Who played the Irish-Jewish lad's dad in a famed TV special. . . . He's a fine horseshit of a boy. . . . Bill Hardy's tragedies mount: the Gay 90s founder rushed his wife ex-Ziegfeld beauty Evelyn back to Memorial Hospital for further treatment; and Bill's brother Jack (also a retired Gay 90s factotum) died the same day.

Ron Santos of the Cubs and his wife are safe at home again. . . . Australian authorities are worried over a prosthetic-increase and blame it on Yanks getting rest & rehabilitation leaves from Vietnam. . . . Lucky double-omens: seven years ago when Jerry Orbach was about to open in the hit "Carnival," his wife Marta was expecting; ditto again as Jerry prepares to open in D. Merrick's "Promises, Promises."

Finest young actress on any stage, Rosemary Harris, is expecting (She's Mrs. John F. Kennedy). . . . The Bobby Kennedy apartment at UN Plaza is being offered at $150,000 more than the same flat on another floor; the K. mystique makes up the extras. . . . Joe Louis Jr., son of the great fight champ, dons his uniform Nov. 15 from Fort Gordon, Fla., then it's back to the U. of Denver. . . . He won't take Pop's fictitious route to fame.

The Buddy Riches patched it up. . . . Carol Bruce's actress-dazzler Julie Sheppard wed jazz guitarist Larry Coryell.

They'll sock-it-to-Kate Smith Dec. 30 on "Laugh-In." . . . Comedy team of Stiller & Meara snubbed a TV beer commercial — because the ad agency insisted Stiller shave off his sideburns; and the Stiller pays his pride and joy.

Producer-director Stan Harris of "That's Life" received a residual check from the United Arab Republic for residuals on an old Nat Cole TV special — and Allan King made him contribute it to the United Jewish Appeal. . . . Pat McCormick says Dick Nixon's dog has two new tricks: brings the anti-Nixon N.Y. Times home; then buries it.

The pants-raid at Barnard the other day moved Dick Cavett's comment, "It's nice seeing traditional values returning."

Six new biographies of Jackie Onassis are rushing into paperback. . . . Mrs. Onassis' former German chef Annamaria Huste said at Savarin Inn of the Clock that she's turning most of her cookbook royalties over to a German foster-parents plan to adopt four Chilean orphans. . . . Russia's five-day week ending the six-day tradition caused a 25 per cent zoom in vodka sales.

Kate Smith told Joe Franklin why she won't appear in night clubs: she once signed for a cafe date and it was a sellout; as she entered the club she fell and busted her leg in seven places—and decided it was god's way of warning her against such jobs forever.

Anita Louise's suit against Sinatra for damage to her Hollywood home during his lease was settled out of court. . . . Tricia Nixon turned up at L'Aiglon with boy friend socialite Edward Cox; who is one of Ralph Nader's staffers (they're after the Federal Trade Commission now). . . . Actor Robert Morley's obvious affection for food has led him to ownership of a London chow house.

Ari's date the night before he flew to his wedding was Mrs. Edgar Delweiller, former wife of the international banker; just pals, as they used to say about Ari and Jackie. . . . Tony Martin, a couple of fortunes late, quit gambling; he learned the hard way — testified he was taken at the Hollywood Friars Club in the fixed-gambling revelations.

Brigitte Bardot's Steak Casino date was a lad in his early twenties.

Bookies aren't taking bets on several pro grid teams and they know more than the commissioner or fans about such esoteric subjects.

Los Angeles chatter has Jack Palance and Steve Allen being pushed for the Dem's mayoralty nomination. . . . Good spot for Tiny Tim.

Biblical tunes get rock beat

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rock 'n' roll in church?

"It's a more personal expression of joy," says Sister Miriam Therese Winter, a Philadelphia nun whose successful folk-rock music-composing is her hobby — catapulted her into one of the most popular composers of the year.

"The music isn't sophisticated, and young people especially seem to like it."

For her unique songs Sister Miriam was cited by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP), joining such more well-known singer-writers as Joan Baez and Herb Alpert.

The nun teaches music and liturgy at the Catholic Medical Mission. Besides composing she plays the guitar, and leads the chorus of sisters who are training for medical mission work in Asia, Africa and South America.

Altogether, more than 130,000 records of her songs have been sold, with the profits going to support the medical missions.

"They are biblical folk songs," explains Sister Miriam, a 30-year-old native of Morris Plains, N.J. She joined the mission in 1955 and went on to Catholic University, where she earned her degree in music.

"Most of the lyrics have biblical sources," she says, "and they are ecumenical. We have had requests from many different religious groups for the recordings."

"Others reflect a contemporary theme — 'The Long Road to Freedom,' for instance."

Then there's the "Mass for a Pilgrim People," which brought much reaction from the congregation.

Goldwater seeks old senate seat

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizonaans are being told a vote for Barry Goldwater is an endorsement of the Grand Canyon and the spirit of the western pioneers.

The message comes from an obviously well-financed campaign to return Goldwater to the U.S. Senate where he served for 12 years before trying unsuccessfully for the White House four years ago.

Roy Elson, 39, a Democrat making his second try for the Senate, is fighting hard to beat the Republican Goldwater. In 1964 he lost to GOP Sen. Paul Fannin. Elson's main campaign asset is the endorsement of retiring Sen. Carl Hayden, 91.

A supermarket survey published recently by a Phoenix newspaper gave Goldwater 57 per cent, with Elson getting 33 per cent of those interviewed. Goldwater aides say this is about what their own polls show.

Elson forces acknowledge they are trailing, but say the spread is only from 4 to 8 points.

The campaign styles of the two men differ sharply.

Goldwater, 59, hammers away at crime in the streets and the need for new leadership to end the war in Vietnam. These were chief topics of his 1964 presidential campaign and he says history has proven him right.

But a hangover from that campaign as to his stance on use of nuclear weapons still haunts him. In 1964 he suffered from his famous "defoliation" remark, which he said was erroneously interpreted as advocating use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam.

Last month an Arizona newspaper ran an article on a Goldwater visit, quoting the Republican candidate as saying that if the peace talks fail the nation should go all out for military victory.

Goldwater had to follow this up with a message to the newspaper explaining he wasn't advocating use of nuclear force.

The Goldwater campaign is keyed to national and international issues.

Elson has concentrated almost entirely on state issues, especially funding of the newly authorized Central Arizona Project.

The Democratic candidate has attacked Goldwater's voting record as being contrary to the interests of Arizona, development of national defense and the space program.

Elson declares he will be a "working" senator, like Hayden, rather than a "talking" senator—which is how he characterizes Goldwater.

The self-described moderate liberal cites his 15 years as an administrative aide to Hayden as a better qualification than Goldwater's two terms in the senate.

Goldwater has largely ignored Elson's attacks.

Newcomers battle for senate in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Senate race in Ohio has developed into a hot battle between Democrat John J. Gilligan, a former congressman, and Republican William B. Saxbe, state attorney general.

In winning the nomination to face Saxbe, Gilligan toppled an institution in Ohio politics, incumbent Sen. Frank J. Lausche, in the May primary.

Saxbe is using a computer analysis of voting trends to help in his campaign with hopes of becoming the first Republican Senator from Ohio in 14 years.

Both candidates are similar in some respects. Both have taken dovish stands on Vietnam. Both have labor support in varying degrees and both have scored smashing successes at the polls.

Saxbe is 52 and Gilligan is 47. Both were in World War II. Saxbe as a bomber pilot and Gilligan as a naval officer who won the Silver Star.

The race is close, and observers predict it will be a neck and neck struggle down to the wire on Nov. 5, although some polls currently show Saxbe with a slight edge.

Six months ago, Gilligan was given little chance of being in this election. But with the help and financial backing of labor, he won the Democratic nomination with his stunning upset over Lausche, 72-year-old former five-term governor who was seeking his third Senate term.

Gilligan campaigned then as a "real Democrat," lashing away at the independent-minded Lausche who was assailed by his own party for voting more often along Republican lines than Democrats.

Saxbe faced only nominal opposition in the Republican primary. His aides concede they believe he'll have a better chance against Gilligan than he would have had against Lausche, who always drew strong support from Republicans.

Although not as colorful as Gilligan, Saxbe is a seasoned campaigner with a strong and wealthy state party organization behind him. The state party made the computer analysis of voting trends for each precinct.

The purpose was to find the voters who don't vote the straight party line, but split their ticket, and to pinpoint the districts that swing back and forth between Democratic and Republican candidates.

By contrast, a Gilligan aide said Gilligan's campaign has had to work with a fractured state organization not as richly endowed as the Republicans. But, the spokesman said, differences within the party "have pretty much cooled" since the Democratic National Convention in August.

"We were down in the mouth a few weeks ago," the Gilligan aide said, "but we're turning a corner in the campaign. New faces are coming out, crowds are getting bigger. More money is starting to come in."

Labor gave Gilligan a big war chest in the primary, and he defeated Lausche by 117,000 votes. Although he again has the official endorsement of the Ohio AFL-CIO, the flow of money to Gilligan's campaign from labor forces has not been as heavy as it was in the primary. One reason, an aide said, is that more money is being spent in the presidential campaign.

Saxbe has been endorsed by the Teamsters Union.

To bolster its campaign coffers, the Gilligan camp has launched a person-to-person fund-raising drive, using the slogan, "Back Jack with a buck."

College youths are conducting car washes to raise money. Saxbe is in his third term as attorney general. He has served four terms in the Ohio House, including two terms as speaker. He lives at Mechanicsburg, a small town near Columbus, is a graduate of Ohio State University, and has three children.

Gilligan served in Congress in 1965-66 and was defeated for reelection by Rep. Robert Taft Jr. He has served five terms on the City Council at Cincinnati, his hometown, where he formerly taught literature at Xavier University. He is a graduate of Notre Dame, and has two daughters and two sons.

UNICEF drive set Sunday

POCONO SUMMIT — Children in the Pocono Summit area will collect funds for the United Nations' childrens fund (UNICEF) Sunday night.

Children from three years to senior high school age, escorted by an adult, have annually supported UNICEF Trick or Treat with the idea that "Halloween is a helping hand".

Mrs. Earl Dennis, who is in charge of children's community activities here every Thursday night, said the program has grown from its first campaign in 1950 when a Pennsylvania Sunday School class raised $17 to $5,000,000 last year.

One cent will furnish six large cups of milk; 10 cents furnishes antibiotics to cure one child of trachoma; 15 cents furnishes 100 vitamin capsules; 25 cents furnishes vaccine to protect 20 children against tuberculosis and 50 cents will furnish DDT to protect seven children from malaria for one year.
